

Swiss Army Implements

Multiuse tools do double duty to save you time and de-clutter your work station.

By Liz Barrett
Photography Amarmado Sanchez

In today's multitasking, get-it-done-now society, we want the most out of every product we buy, and nothing is more effective than one product that does the work of two. This is just as true for beauty professionals who are searching for a perfect multiuse implement that allows them to do their job quickly and efficiently, while still offering the best results. And for years, manufacturers have strived to bring you just that: quality double-duty tools. Whether it's pushers that also nip or clippers that also file, they truly make your job easier.

Liz Barrett is an Oxford, Mississippi-based freelance writer and editor.